

Methods Used For Solving Project Management Problems And Their Comparisons

AbdelRazek AbuolNour, EISayed A. EISayed

Abstract

The major results gained from research is entering some suitable adjustment for conventional planning techniques to able as control tool in updating, clearing to many divisions for precedence diagram, PD. Finally a macro model for project planning techniques called project planning family tree is given